The tornado [illegible] yards wide. Several stores and [illegible] were demolished, and every residence in town was damaged. The [illegible] mill and the [illegible] wrecked. The large Mennonite [illegible] was only slightly damaged. The injured were taken there for treatment.

PLAINWELL, Mich., June 7.—Sweeping a path a mile wide for a distance of 7 miles early today a tornado that struck the villages of Martin and Monteith respectively six miles and [illegible] miles north of here, killed William West, a farm laborer, aged [illegible], seriously injured several others, did much damage to stock and farm buildings and uprooted a number of large orchards. Electrical storms were prevalent in many parts of Michigan. At Mount Morris, Alexander [illegible] a farmer aged 60, was killed by lightning.

ST. PAUL, June 7.—Six dead, many injured and thousands of dollars worth of property blown away, summarizes the effects of the storm which yesterday devastated sections of Minnesota and Wisconsin. There were two separate storms, one in southern Minnesota and Wisconsin [illegible] Minnesota which swept over into Wisconsin. The dead:

Near Stoddard, Wis.: [illegible] Halvorson, near Caledonia, Mrs. Peter [illegible] and two children; near North Branch, English, Sr., and Andrew H. [illegible], the latter killed by lightning.

Fortunately the storms did not strike any large town, but the [illegible] wrought in the rich farming country through which they passed is said to be complete. Substantial brick and frame dwellings and barns were blown into fragments and scattered for hundreds of yards.

Sunrise, Minn., a little town of 500 inhabitants, fears for the safety of which were expressed on account of lack of communication, escaped uninjured. The storm devastated the country about three miles from the village, wrecking many houses and injuring a number of people. The large new frame house of William Stevens was blown to pieces, and Stevens and his wife were seriously hurt.

The tornado then turned to the direction of the farm of M. W. Deming and destroyed every building on the place. His wife and nine children took refuge in the cellar and escaped.

After passing Sunrise the storm struck northeasterly into Wisconsin, going through a heavily timbered section. A road 100 feet wide was cut through the timber as far as the St. Croix river. There was considerable damage to sawmill property near Beaver, Wis., but no lives were lost.

VALUE OF A MAN IN REAL MONEY?

"CAN FLESH AND BLOOD BE REDUCED TO FIGURES, PRECEDED BY DOLLAR SIGN?"

BOSTON, June 7.—"What is a man worth in dollars and cents?"

"Can flesh and blood and brains be reduced to figures with the dollar sign before them?"

These questions were considered at a meeting of the section of ophthalmology of the American Medical association, when Dr. Erastus E. Holt of Portland, Maine, showed by tables that a man's value in money could be actually determined by taking into consideration his occupation and age.

Dr. Holt reaffirmed the famous Dr. Osler theory, and by a table indicated that the economic value of a laboring man begins to decrease after his twenty-fifth year and that the economic value of a professional man began to decrease after his fortieth year.

Dr. Holt's table rates a boy of [illegible] years to be worth $2,601.62, at 15 years he is worth $4,263.66, at 20 he is worth $5,488.02, and from that time on his value decreases, until at 70 years he is worth only $17.13, and at 80 years he is a drawback on the community to the extent of $872.84.

A professional man at 25 years has an economic value of $25,898.94 and his highest value is at 40 years, when he is worth $29,244.68.

COLUMBUS, O., June 7.—The joint conference of the Ohio miners and operators adjourned this afternoon in a disagreement. Both sides declare tonight that the fight is now on to a finish.

The miners' convention voted unanimously to stand out for the 1903 scale and it was decided to assess all miners now at work in the state five per cent of their wages for the support of the strikers. The national organization will contribute $20,000 a week to the strikers.

The operators also held a conference and Chairman Winder announced that there would be no break among the stand-pat operators.

TRIED TO CUT OUT REBATES

PENNSYLVANIA OFFICIAL SAYS MEASURES HAD BEEN CONSIDERED.

INDEPENDENT COAL OPERATOR SAID HIS ALLOTMENT WAS ONE CAR A DAY FOR SEVEN MONTHS.

PHILADELPHIA, June 7.—New light was shed today on the motives leading to the abolition of freight rebates by the railroads, when James McCrea, first vice president of the Pennsylvania company, appeared before the interstate commerce commission.

Mr. McCrea favored publicity of the rating of rebates and the distribution of cars. He surprised the commissioners by announcing that for nearly two years, and up to the time of President Cassatt's recent departure for Europe, the board of directors of the Pennsylvania railroad had been considering means for eliminating the private car. He declared that the company had concluded that the use of these cars is unwise.

Toward the conclusion of his testimony Attorney Glassgow asked Mr. McCrea when President Cassatt decided to stop rebating.

"Just as soon as he got control of the Pennsylvania railroad—that was in 1899."

Mr. McCrea declared that the directors of the other roads were pleased with the idea of abolishing rebating when the subject was brought to their attention. Mr. McCrea admitted finally that the rebating ceased when the community of interests plan started. He asserted that the shipper was never so fairly treated as now.

There were other interesting developments in the session. Joseph Aiken, chief clerk to A. G. Mitchell, superintendent of the Monongahela river division, admitted owning stock in numerous coal companies, some of which was given to him, while for the other shares he paid a privileged price.

S. F. Potter, president of the Donohue Coal & Coke company, charged that the Pennsylvania railroad had practiced gross discrimination in the distribution of cars to his company. One car a day was his allotment for seven months, he declared.

HIGH WATER IN KANSAS RIVER TIES UP TRAFFIC

EMPORIA, Kan., June 7.—High water in the Cottonwood river has tied up traffic on the Santa Fe, but though the river is still rising, fair weather prevails and further rain is not expected, so that the blockade will not continue long. Santa Fe train No. 8 from Denver is held west of here and No. 5 is not able to proceed farther west than Strong City. California trains Nos. 1 and 7 are both being held here until the water goes down. A great deal of track between Strong City and Florence is under water, although no track has been washed away.

CHARGE JEROME WITH A FELONY

NEW YORK MEN ASSERT THAT HE RECEIVED $50,000 AND REFRAINED FROM PROSECUTIONS

ALBANY, N. Y., June 7.—[illegible] removal of William Travers Jerome from the office of district attorney of New York county is demanded from Governor Higgins in a complaint sent to William N. Amory of New York city. Frank E. Perley, secretary to the governor, admitted tonight that such a complaint had been filed, but he would say nothing as to the nature of the charges against Jerome.

While nothing definite can be learned here as to the nature of the charges, it is assumed that the complaint is the one which was threatened by Mr. Amory before a legislative committee last winter, and is based upon the charges he then made against Mr. Jerome of negligence in failing to prosecute persons in connection with certain metropolitan traction interests. Governor Higgins is out of town and may not be home before June 17, and probably will not see the Amory charges before that time.

NEW YORK, June 7.—The charges filed with Governor Higgins against District Attorney Jerome, it is learned here tonight, were signed by five residents of this city, as follows:

Chapman Dwight, a retired stock broker; Edward P. White, a member of the produce exchange; former Congressman Robert Baker, Brooklyn; Joseph C. Hurley, secretary of the Standard Finance company; William E. Amory, a lawyer, and former secretary of the Third Avenue Railroad company.

They declare that Mr. Jerome has willfully omitted to perform his public duties, and that he received $50,000 from the large life insurance companies toward his campaign fund last fall. These contributions, it is charged, he received "as a gratuity or reward in the shape of campaign funds to compound a crime and for a violation of the criminal statutes of this state, and has agreed or has abstained in pursuance of a previous agreement or arrangement from the prosecution of sundry criminal actions in violation of section 125 of the penal code, and is therefore guilty of a felony."

Mr. Jerome, when informed of the charges tonight, said:

"I do not wish to dignify these charges with a reply. Charges accusing me of malfeasance in office and neglect of duty have been made before to Governor Higgins. He has never considered them of sufficient merit to give them his attention."

CONFEREES GET RATE BILL BACK

SENATE DECIDED TO RETURN MEASURE YESTERDAY—FORAKER TO TAKE UP STATEHOOD BILL.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—After a day devoted almost exclusively to the conference report on the railroad rate bill the senate decided at six o'clock this afternoon to send that measure back to conference. The debate covered free passes, the salaries of the interstate commerce commissioners and the penal provisions of the bill. There were differences of opinion on all these points, but the dominant thought was favorable to sustaining the senate provisions thereon.

Senator Foraker gave notice that he would move to take up the conference report on the statehood bill as soon as the report on the rate bill is disposed of, but afterward he would probably not make an effort in that direction until next Tuesday, when it is believed Senator Beveridge, who is in charge of the report, can be present.

The bill providing for the control of the waters of Niagara river was passed.

SETTLEMENT EFFECTED

Mitchell Settles Troubles Between Operators and Miners.

KANSAS CITY, June 7.—John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America, who came here to take part in the conference of miners and operators of the southwest over the wage scale, the subcommittee of the conference having deadlocked over two points, affecting Missouri mines, succeeded today in straightening out the difficulty.

The subcommittee was in session from 9 a. m. to 11 p. m., Mr. Mitchell participating. Through his efforts the operators made concessions on both points at issue.

The subcommittee will report to the full conference tomorrow, and it is expected that the report will be adopted.

KENTUCKY JUDGE IN JAIL.

JACKSON, Ky., June 7.—Judge James Hargis, indicted for the murder of Dr. B. F. Coxe four years ago, was given into the custody of the local jailer today. Hargis' attorney has requested that his case be transferred to another county for trial on the ground that the county officials are antagonistic to the Hargises. Circuit Court Judge Riddle of the district has declined to transfer the case, and Hargis will be kept in jail until Governor Beckham appoints another trial judge.

Judge Hargis is also under indictment for complicity in the assassination of J. [illegible]

PARRIES DIG AT PRESIDENT

PLAIN AMERICAN ADMINISTRATOR OF PLAIN AMERICAN GOVERNMENT.

ARKANSAN VERY BITTERLY DEPLORES USE OF MUCK RAKE. GROSVENOR REPLIES SIMPLY, FORCEFULLY

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The house today listened to a bitter arraignment of the president by Mr. Brundidge of Arkansas, who contrasted the expenses of the last Cleveland, the McKinley and the Roosevelt administrations.

Under the Cleveland administration there was expended for the executive department including the salary of the president $152,290. Under the McKinley administration $144,500 was used, while the bill under consideration carries for the executive department including the care of the White house, greenhouses, etc., $253,540. In addition to this Mr. Brundidge said that there were forty policemen detailed to the White house and grounds, and this makes an additional $40,000. The total of nearly $300,000 he denominated as "extravagance run mad." He said that he did not know whether forty policemen are too few or too many, but he thought regular soldiers ought to be detailed to protect the person of the president and that these policemen ought to be sent into the sections of Washington where thugs and marauders are preying upon women and children.

He criticised the item appropriating $25,000 for the traveling expenses of the president and said it was probably made for the purpose of providing for a repetition of the "muck rake" speech.

"As for myself," he said, "and I believe also for a large proportion of the people, we have heard enough of this muck rake nonsense and tomfoolery and we are disgusted with it.

"No wonder, in view of the present appropriations and expenditures—no wonder the president should hold up to public ridicule magazines and newspapers of this country and public men and private citizens who dare to criticise.

"I entertain the hope and belief that the time will never come in the history of politics when any man occupying a position of public trust and public offices will rise so high and become so great that the humblest citizen and the humblest newspaper may not justly and properly criticise his official conduct and actions."

He spoke of the president's stable and enlarged on the number of horses therein. And, finally, he spoke of the arrest of Mrs. Minor Morris and the appointment of Assistant Secretary to the President Barnes as postmaster of Washington, as showing the high-handed way the president conducts his office.

Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio replied to Mr. Brundidge. He said:

"We are now talking of the beef packing industry because there is an odor from them that is offensive to the nostrils of some of the polite young gentlemen who have been detailed for the inspection of those institutions and at the same time, we hear an assault upon the president's household."

Mr. Grosvenor characterized the attack on the president as a relic of antiquity. He said it could have no effect upon the American people. He said if he would attempt by an illustrated lecture to impress upon the people of the old world the absolute domination of plain, everyday democratic living and plain democratic administration of a great government he would take them to the White house, the home of the president, and show them the everyday life of the present occupant.

"I would show them his incoming and outgoing, and I speak of him now as simply the type of the American president—show him in his daily walks among his fellow citizens, a man, a simple American citizen without a single signification of greatness by reason of his high office, without any insignia or any extravagance in living—the plain American administrator of the plain American government."

He said he would point to the president's children attending the public schools, to the president's traveling and commingling with his fellow men throughout the country.

"Whatever criticism can be made of our government, it has not developed aristocracy and plutocracy."

Speaking of the appropriation of $25,000 for the president's traveling expenses, he characterized the criticisms made on it as "unjustifiable and unfortunate." He said he had yet to meet a man opposed to the appropriation.

COURT MARTIAL DEFENSE

Counsel for Captain Wynne Will Plead Intense Aggravation.

NEW YORK, June 7.—E. S. Theall of Washington, counsel for Captain R. J. Wynne of the United States marine corps in his court-martial for alleged insubordination, today made a statement to the Associated Press in which he said that testimony warrants Captain Wynne's retirement from active service for disability incurred by sunstroke.

"The defense relied upon by Captain Wynne," says Mr. Theall, "is that of intense aggravation brought about by the manner in which he received the orders to appear on deck. The average officer would have been greatly aggravated, humiliated and irritated over the idea of a junior of his command, accompanied by two enlisted men of his own command, appearing at the door of his state room with orders to drag him on deck."

The court-martial of Captain Wynne, which was suspended yesterday at the request of the judge advocate, was resumed today. Dr. J. C. Decker, surgeon of the Alabama, testified that Captain Wynne is not insane, not weak-minded, but that his [illegible] of right and wrong is not [illegible]

OFFERS LIFE ON JUSTICE'S ALTAR

CONVICTED MAN ASKS LIMIT, GETS IT, WILL SERVE TIME, AND THEN EXTERMINATE FAMILY.

CHICAGO, June 7.—John H. Dalton, formerly a local politician, and Lewis A. Gourdain of [illegible], were today sentenced in the United States district court to four and one half years in the penitentiary and to pay a fine of $1,500 each for using the mails to defraud. The charge against the men is that they sold options on [illegible] which did not exist.

Gourdain asked the court to give him the limit of imprisonment under the law and Judge Landis accommodated him. Gourdain previously declared that if convicted he would ask the court for the extreme sentence, serve his time and then exterminate his family.

CLAIM TARIFFS WERE CHANGED

DECISION IN KANSAS CITY REBATE CASE EXPECTED TODAY—OTHER TRIALS ARE POSTPONED.

KANSAS CITY, June 7.—Arguments in the cases of the Armour, Swift, Cudahy and Nelson Morris Packing companies on charges of accepting rebates from the Burlington railway on export shipments had not been concluded when court adjourned this afternoon.

The Burlington had a signed contract with the packers giving them a rate of 23 cents a hundred from the Mississippi river to New York. During the life of the contract the railway raised its tariff to 35 cents. Counsel for the defendants in their arguments today took the ground that when their contract with the railway was signed at the 23 cent rate it was legal and that the railway was bound to carry it out. It was necessary to protect their business interests, it was contended, by making contracts of this nature and the packers were not responsible for the fact that the railway after agreeing to ship its products at one rate which at the time was legitimate had later raised its tariff.

A. S. VanValkenberg will tomorrow begin his argument for the government. The case probably will be given to the jury by noon tomorrow. During the day the case against the Chicago and Alton, and J. N. Faithorn and F. A. Wann, former officials of that road charged with paying rebates on packing house products, which had previously been set for trial this month, was continued until next fall.

ASK INDORSEMENT OF 'FRISCO BONDS

SUBCOMMITTEE LEAVES FOR WASHINGTON FOR THE PURPOSE OF SECURING PRESIDENT'S VIEWS.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—Following a lengthy telegraphic communication with President Roosevelt, a subcommittee of the citizens' finance committee this morning left for Washington in E. H. Harriman's private car, for the purpose of learning the president's views on the proposal to have congress indorse the long-term bonds of San Francisco in the sum of $200,000,000.

The committee that departed today comprises W. J. Bartnett, Judge W. W. Morrow, Dr. Devine of the Red Cross and B. I. Wheeler. They will be met in the east by Mr. Harriman, the fifth member of the subcommittee.

Franklin K. Lane of this city, who has been in New York for many weeks, has obtained the promise, it is said, of Wall Street financiers to take the bond issue provided the United States indorses the bonds. The money thus raised is to be used for the rehabilitation and reconstruction of San Francisco.

AMERICA AND CHINA.

CLEVELAND, June 7.—Sir Chentung Liang Cheng, the Chinese minister at Washington, was a guest of honor and the principal speaker at a dinner given by the local Chamber of Commerce tonight. He paid an eloquent tribute to the memory of the late Secretary of State John Hay. He dwelt at length on the increasing opportunities for American commerce in China.

EIGHT MINERS MEET DEATH

VICTIMS OF DEADLY WHITE DAMP IN A BIG MONTANA COAL MINE.

RESCUE WORK WAS AN EXAMPLE OF UNEXCELLED BRAVERY AND HEROIC SELF-SACRIFICE.

ANACONDA, Mont., June 7.—One of [illegible] in the history of coal mining in Montana has occurred in the mines of the Northern Pacific [illegible] near Red Lodge, [illegible] dead all [illegible] that [illegible] after [illegible] Wednesday. [illegible] Of the dead [illegible] were members of one of [illegible] to [illegible] dead:

[illegible] FLEMING.
WILLIAM GAILEY.
MIKE GABRIAGE.
THOMAS SKELLY.
AL. MCFATE.
MATT [illegible].
ROY CAREY.
JOE BRACEY.

Carey and Bracey were of the rescue party.

The fire which caused the trouble started in incline No. 6, Wednesday. This was believed to be under control after a long fight. At 7:30 o'clock this morning the first rescue party started down No. 6 incline, proceeding cautiously, as it was found that there were still traces of the fire. When they reached a depth of 1,200 feet all were overcome. Seven managed to struggle back to where they could be reached. By this time a dense volume of smoke burst from No. 5 incline and the air in No. 6 was so foul that volunteer rescuers were driven back. At 10 o'clock another rescue party was formed, business and townspeople volunteering when the [illegible] miners fled back terrified.

A special to the Standard from Red Lodge says the scene about the mines beggared description. Frantic women and crazed men ran about hampering the work of rescue.

The second volunteer party was successful. The fans were reversed and the smoke forced back out of No. 6 incline. In the stopes brattices were made of canvas and water was let in from vein 41-2.

The rescuers were let down slowly in cars. They first found the unconscious forms of six of the first rescue party, which were hurried to the surface. All were revived but Carey and Bracey. It is believed the injured will recover. Farther down the slope 6 other bodies were found, all beyond hope of restoration to life.

Several of the second rescue party, among them Pit Boss Haggerty, were overcome during the day, but were restored and Haggerty returned to the work of rescue.

It is believed all bodies have been removed from the mine. The state coal mine inspector and local officers of the company are on the ground and characterize the work of the rescuers as brave to the point of foolhardiness.

REVOLUTIONISTS ACTIVE.

MEXICO CITY, June 7.—News from Guatemala shows great activity by the revolutionists. General Toledo, operating in the south, has fully 5,000 men and more pouring in. The forces in the north are preparing for another attack on Ocos, and it is again reported that Americans are in charge of the revolutionists.

PACKERS' PUPPET CUNNINGLY CHAMPIONS A DUBIOUS CAUSE

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Before the house committee on agriculture yesterday, Thomas E. Wilson, representative of the large Chicago packing concerns, stated that the packers were under an expense aggregating $1,000,000 a year for condemnation of animals; the raisers or producers bear none of the loss on condemned stock—it all falls on the packers. Mr. Wilson claimed that the large packers kill only 50 per cent of the meat supply of the country and that they do not control the market.

Mr. Wilson said the packers had sent [illegible] to create a market. The packers were willing to comply with any new requirements, but they were now [illegible] money on their English market [illegible] were carrying it to develop trade.

"But we feel this to be an unjust burden and one we ought not to be called on to bear," he added.

Chairman Wadsworth asked if any complaint had ever been [illegible] the quality of the goods [illegible] abroad.

"Well," replied Wilson, "[illegible]

MATCH WAS WON BY MISS SUTTON

AMERICAN TENNIS CHAMPION, HOWEVER, FOUND MRS. STERRY QUITE DIFFICULT TO DEFEAT.

LIVERPOOL, June 7.—Miss May Sutton of Pasadena, Cal., was given one of the hardest matches she ever has had in England in the second round of the northern counties ladies singles championship played this afternoon. Her opponent was Mrs. Sterry, who as Miss Cooper, gained many tennis honors a few years ago.

At the outset Miss Sutton was nonplused by Mrs. Sterry's tactics. The latter alternated a shot drive just over the net with a long lob, and Miss Sutton was kept running all over the court. Although winning the first set, she lost the second, the first set that she had lost in tournament play. By sheer staying power she secured the third set and match, but was tired out, and she and D. R. Rhodes of Boston were beaten in the all England mixed doubles championship by E. Casdagli and Mrs. Sterry. Earlier in the day she and Mr. Rhodes had defeated Mr. Fry and Miss Longhurst, so that the day was a severe test for the staying powers of the champion. Score:

All-England mixed doubles championship, preliminary round: D. R. Rhodes and Miss Sutton defeated Mr. Fry and Miss Longhurst, 6-2, 6-2.

First round: Mr. Casdagli and Mrs. Sterry defeated Mr. Rhodes and Miss Sutton, 1-6, 8-6, 6-3.

Ladies singles, second round: Miss Sutton defeated Mrs. Sterry, 6-4, [illegible].

CRUDE ATTEMPT AT MOCKING LAW

MAGISTRATE SCORES PUGILISTS AND PRIZE FIGHT PROMOTERS OF BRITT-M'GOVERN GO.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Terry McGovern and Jimmy Britt, the pugilists, Harry Pollock, manager of the Twentieth Century Athletic club, and Tim Hurst, who refereed the bout between McGovern and Britt before the Twentieth Century club about two weeks ago, today were held for trial in the court of special sessions by Magistrate Breen. They are charged with violating that section of the penal code relating to prize fighting. Bail was fixed at $500 in each case. Twelve other persons, including fighters, waiters and ticket sellers, also were held for trial on a similar charge.

In his opinion holding the accused Magistrate Breen said:

"The [illegible] testimony of two police officers shows that charges of admission were made. There seems to have been a defiant and reckless disregard of the penal statute under the supposed protection of a defective subterfuge. The farcical action of a multitude of so-called members was a crude attempt to make the law a mockery."

MAY REVOLUTIONIZE TREATMENT OF ORE

CRIPPLE CREEK, June 7.—As a result of a recent discovery made by Bryant Tully, assisted by T. J. Corlen, superintendent of the Economic mill, and A. J. Gerster, lessee of the Ajax, it is believed that the present treatment of ore conditions will be completely revolutionized and a great era of prosperity opened for the Cripple Creek district.

After several years devoted to the perfection of the discovery, it is claimed that a process of treatment adaptable for the millions of tons of low grade ores on the dumps of the Cripple Creek mines has been found. The successful test was made yesterday at the Economic mill in the presence of H. C. Prentice, superintendent of the Ajax, N. J. Cowgill, of the Strong, and H. E. Hoffman, of Stratton's Independence.

Ninety pounds of oxidized ore from General Sherman Bell's Home Run mine was placed in the agitating barrel and thirty pounds of sixty-five one-hundredths per cent solution of cyanide poured in. The ore used had previously been put through a seven-mesh screen and was rather coarse. At exactly 2:30 o'clock the barrel was revolved and one hour later the contents dumped into the filtering tank. The ore showed perfect extraction. The leading feature of the new process is that the ore is handled directly from the bath into the precipitating tank and no settling tank is required.

Mining men who have observed the process are frank to state that it will work a saving of 60 per cent over the present methods. When everything is in readiness it is believed that a ton barrel can handle 100 tons of ore in twenty-four hours. It is claimed that an 85 per cent extraction can be made from sulphide ores and 95 to 98 per cent from oxidized or free milling ores. Stated briefly, the new process consists of introducing free oxygen directly into the agitating bath, which is open at both ends. The contents are then placed directly into the filtering tank, the bottom of which is perforated steel, and is charged from the bottom instead of from the top. This prevents settling and facilitates drainage and goes far to abolishing moisture.

SUICIDE IN GERMANY.

Official returns give some curious information regarding suicide in Germany. Between 1895 and 1905 the number of suicides has steadily increased and among women the increase has been relatively greater than among men. This latter fact is attributed to the larger share which women are gradually taking in commercial life and wage-earning. Among men the most common methods of suicide are shooting and drowning and among women drowning and poisoning. Few women shoot themselves.

"KATHLEEN MAVOURNEEN."

Arrington's [illegible] continue to draw good houses at the Opera house, where they are presenting a good line of plays. The universal opinion is that they are giving the best performances for the prices charged that have been seen in this city. This evening also tomorrow afternoon, matinee and night, they will present one of their strongest plays, the great Irish comedy drama in four acts, entitled "Kathleen Mavourneen." There will be a entire change of specialties. Matinee prices are children 10 cents, adults 20 cents. Evening prices are 10, 20, 30 and 50 cents.

"MARY, MARY, QUITE CONTRARY."

Nothing in the way of dramatic events is more deserving of public attention than the engagement at the Opera house next Wednesday evening of the famous star, Henrietta Crosman. The fact that she is coming here is bound to awaken general interest and it is certain everybody will wish to see her, more especially as she is to present a comedy and her latest New York hit, "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary." In this play her success exceeds any she has ever attained, not excepting her triumphs in "Mistress Nell" or "Sweet Kitty Bellairs." That is, she has received greater praise and more enthusiastic applause in "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary" than in any other play she has offered. This means that those who see her when she comes here this time will enjoy a delightful performance. Miss Crosman is always delightful in her stage work, so the assurance that she now excels her former achievements will awaken the liveliest expectations among play-goers. "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary" is a sparkling modern comedy. All the characters are amusing and the situations are genuinely harmonious. "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary" is said to be one of the best comedies written in recent years.

FRIDAY JUNE 8 1906

WHITEWASHING THE PACKERS.

THE WHITEWASHING of the condemned meat industry now being attempted with varying degrees of success in Washington and Chicago is of two kinds. At the national capital a gentleman named Wilson representing the packers is testifying before the House Committee on Agriculture in an effort to refute the charges made in the Neill-Reynolds report. According to his interesting story, the packing houses controlled by the Beef Trust are models of cleanliness and sanitation— as clean as any kitchen " to use one of Mr. Wilson's favorite phrases. The floors walls, tables etc, are scrubbed daily and anything that bears the slightest resemblance to a speck of dirt or a disease germ is promptly pounced upon and hauled off probably to be put up in cans and sold as "potted chicken " or something else with an equally alluring name.

The other whitewashing process is going on in the packing houses. Dispatches from Chicago declare that kalsomine is being used freely places which have never before known the touch of water are being scrubbed and the filth of years is being removed, layer by layer, until finally the bottom is reached. Workmen are instructed to be clean for once in their lives, even though it is only for a short time. All of this is in obedience to the popular outcry aroused by Upton Sinclair and the Neill-Reynolds report. It is barely possible that a committee from Congress may visit Chicago to find out whether the packers are saints or sinners and the packers will soon be prepared to show such a committee or anybody else that they conduct the only real Spotless Town. As soon as the house-cleaning is complete and everything has been made ready the packers will doubtless insist on a thorough inspection by members of Congress as a "vindication." And it is perfectly safe to say that if such an inspection is made the committee will not find men skimming grease from the surface of "Bubbly Creek" the open sewer to be made into lard nor will it see any cholera hogs being ground up into sausage. Everything will be "as clean as a kitchen."

An interesting feature of Mr. Wilson's testimony is his constant allusion to the small packing houses as possible perpetrators of misdeeds which the big concerns would not commit. In questioning certain statements in the Neill-Reynolds report he said that the offense complained of might have happened in one of the smaller plants but not in the big ones. Thus another of the beauties of the Beef Trust is revealed. The independent little fellows may sin, but the members of the trust—never.

It is to be regretted that the revelations now being made are inflicting such a severe loss on the export meat business and more particularly on the livestock business in the West. The stockmen are innocent sufferers but for the falling off in the business of the packing houses the packers have only themselves to blame. A member of the Armour family is quoted as saying that the meat industry of the country will suffer to the extent of $150,000,000 as a result of the present agitation most of this being foreign business. But it is far better that this business be irrevocably lost than that the horrible conditions existing in the packing houses be allowed to continue. Even an industry so gigantic as that of the Beef Trust deserves to be sacrificed if it becomes so honeycombed with fraud that it can not be made honest. Already there is a strong prejudice against American meats in England France and Germany, and it will be many years before the confidence of those countries as well as of our own is restored. Meanwhile, the packers must suffer enormous losses. If they were the only sufferers nobody would care a rap, for they have brought their troubles upon themselves but it is unpleasant to reflect that the livestock industry must also bear a heavy share of the burden.

"HARDENING" THE SOLDIER.

THE PROBLEM of how to put a stop to desertions from the Army is still puzzling the War Department officials and other military authorities. Peace has its unquestioned victories but it also has its disadvantages for the fighting man and one of them is the growth of a spirit of unrest and discontent with the humdrum monotony of post life which leads to desertions. The daily routine of eating, sleeping and loafing, with occasional drill or target practice, does not appeal to the free-and-easy American who wants plenty of action and little restraint. As a result of this condition desertions have become so numerous as to cause grave alarm.

In the current number of the Journal of the Military Service Institution, Major Francis J. Kernan of the General Staff suggests that the desertion evil could be minimized and several other desirable results attained if the soldiers were allowed to spend more time "roughing it." The soldier says Major Kernan, "must be separated from the comfortable bed, the modern kitchen the porcelain bathtub and the furnace heat. He must put on his field kit, pack the wagon and be off to live under conditions bearing a close relation to those which in time of war must surround him. The march and the camp and again the march, persevered in afford the natural and indispensable opportunity for teaching practically all that which in garrison could only be prepared for, not actually done."

If it is the business of professional soldiers to be always fit for war, Major Kernan's idea certainly is correct. Our Army has acquitted itself with unquestioned valor in every war in which it has been engaged but valor is not everything. A short time ago comparisons were published between the mortality records of the American forces in Cuba and the Philippines during the wars there and the Japanese forces in Manchuria during the recent conflict with Russia. It was shown that lack of preparation was responsible for a truly appalling sacrifice of American soldiers while the Japanese sanitary arrangements were so perfect that the men went to war in such excellent physical condition that their losses from disease were very slight.

This comparison would hold good if applied to any other American war. The number of deaths from disease is always far in excess of the number killed by bullets. This is due mainly to improper sanitary arrangements in camp, but another factor is the physical unfitness of the men. However great the patriotic ardor of the volunteer may be, he is usually wholly unprepared for the hardships of campaigning. Constant exposure to all kinds of weather, sleeping on the ground, irregular meals all tend to impair his health and a sick soldier is worse than none at all, for he is not only incapacitated for duty but requires the services of others to care for him.

If the men of the regular Army could be kept at some such business as Major Kernan suggests it would without doubt improve their physical condition and better prepare them for actual war as well as occupy their minds. If five or six months of each year were spent upon the road and in camps with a variety and abundance of interesting occupation, a healthy state of mind unfavorable to desertion would result. That this would be the case hardly admits of doubt. [illegible] sections now is the dull monotony of garrison life.

INDIANA DEMOCRATS FOR BRYAN.

THE DEMOCRATIC party of Indiana in convention assembled has resolved that the peerless William J. Bryan is just as peerless as ever and that it still wants him for its leader. This is not the exact language of the platform but it expresses the idea, which is quite sufficient. What the convention actually said was:

It sends greetings across the sea to that wise and conservative statesman, unfaltering patriot and superb leader William Jennings Bryan and pledges its vote in convention and the electoral vote of Indiana to him for President in 1908.

This indorsement, say the press dispatches, was received with an outburst that continued half a minute. The only wonder is that it didn't last a great deal longer. Aside from all consideration of the greatness of the subject of this eulogy, such a thrilling spasm of splendiferous English is enough to awaken the enthusiasm of a convention of wooden Indians to say nothing of Hoosier Democrats. And the best part of it is that the eulogy is perfectly true. Nobody ever doubted that Bryan was a superb leader unless leadership is interpreted to mean the ability to win victories. And he is an unfaltering patriot or ought to be now that he has seen the American Army in action in the Philippines and learned from observation that it is not the band of cutthroats he used to think it was. As to his conservatism, it must be admitted that he is not quite so impulsive as some other individual who has reached the goal to which he aspires and when it comes to the question of wisdom Bryan is all that could be asked. He has the wisdom of the fox.

SENATORS AND THE PEOPLE

From the Springfield (Mass.) Republican

In Tennessee there has been a rapid succession of new men since the deaths of Senators Harris and Bate. It is notable that the defeats of Jones, Berry and Carmack by rivals who have been considered exceptionally sensational in their electioneering methods have come about in popular canvasses and as this system is a close approximation to the election of United States senators by popular vote, the question arises how far the popular canvass for this office, if it be at all universal, would affect the character and personal quality of the senate's membership.

WHAT BAILEY ET AL DID.

From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat

What Senators Bailey, Tillman and the others attempted was to put the Republicans in a hole and thereby give the Democratic party a lift. It is not the right objective as far as the interests of the people of the United States are concerned. Added to the rueful fizzle, this narrow display of petty scheming has left the Democratic side in the pitiable plight now visible to the country. Their rage and recourse to personal attacks is merely proof that they have lost their temper as well as their opportunities. It is quite improbable that they will do anything for a wise rate bill now that they have fallen down in the game to boost the Democratic party.

DOUBTFUL BENEFITS OF DESPOTISM

From the New York Globe

Theoretically it is no doubt a very good thing for sentimental reasons to have a little father or a paternal kaiser or a beneficently despotic gackwar or a prying official Democrat regulating one's daily life, but in practice, when the police and the courts lay down rules for breathing and eating and drinking and even sneezing, it seems about time for the overgoverned worm to turn. In Saxon the other day one Johann Furtmann was arrested for improper sneezing in the public highway. After a long trial he was acquitted, but the prosecution immediately appealed and the case is to be retried. His defense was that he had a polypus in his nose which made ordinary sneezing dangerous, and he was obliged for his own protection to bellow through the mouth, the result being a very noisy, not to say horrifying shriek. When the other common operation in which the nose is concerned is regulated by statute the kaiser could [illegible] turn his attention to snoring, [illegible] and perhaps even hiccoughing.

May day was celebrated here in the finest style by a most enjoyable dance being given in the town hall at Plush. The gathering was very large. The music was supplied by Mr. and Mrs. Grisel. Mrs. Grisel is an artist on the harp or piano while Mr. Grisel is quite an expert on the violin. The hall was crowded and at 8 o'clock sharp Mrs. Grisel touched the harp [illegible] and with the greatest feeling poured forth the famous selection [illegible] entitled "Pish Ytha Agum Agus Ne [illegible]" At the turn of the tune Mr. Grisel got [illegible] and the dancing commenced. The Chinese Language.

Many Dialects Useless for Commercial Purposes.

CONSUL George E. Anderson, writing from Amoy, gives an interesting account of the very great difficulty in learning the multiplicity of dialects [illegible] and he holds that the study of Chinese for commercial purposes is unwise, unnecessary and unprofitable. The way to avoid the difficulty is to employ Chinese and [illegible] in the United States. Consul Anderson says:

It has been the custom for some time for commercial interests interested in the extension of foreign trade in China to advise the training of young American business men in the Chinese language preparatory to work in Chinese business fields. It has generally been assumed that familiarity with the Chinese language is a prime requisite to successful work in China. It has been asserted, and with reason, that he may then [illegible] will be able to enter into Chinese life sufficiently to be successful [illegible] [illegible] under the circumstances is possible [illegible] but I am convinced after studying both the theory of the matter as applied to actual conditions and the actual experience of men out there [illegible] successful in Chinese trade that [illegible] with the acquisition of the Chinese language may be desirable [illegible] [illegible] successful business [illegible] China. There are other matters more important, other things which demand more attention and much [illegible]

Unsuited to Modern Needs

[illegible] unsuited to the needs of [illegible] and so [illegible] to the demands of [illegible] sciences [illegible] civilization. From a general commercial standpoint it is a drawback that the Chinese language [illegible] rather [illegible] knowledge [illegible] [illegible] Chinese is an ideographic language written by characters for ideas rather than letters and syllables based upon sounds of the spoken language [illegible] communication. The Chinese written language is different from the spoken language of each district and thus the [illegible]

Difficult to Learn

[illegible]

There may be [illegible] Chinese must indicate [illegible] [illegible] Chinese language [illegible] about expressing in order to be [illegible] supposed to show [illegible] send a [illegible] official dispatch [illegible] communicate [illegible] clean cut definite and ready communication so essential [illegible] business life scarcely seems practicable in the Chinese language.

The Dialects Will Not Harmonize.

There may be considerable room for debate as to the origin of the innumerable dialects of the Chinese language but there is no room for question as to the impracticability of an attempt to harmonize them. The northern and central provinces have modifications of what is known as the mandarin or official language or dialect. This language is common to all officials in China for the reason that officials are not local but are itinerant and must have some common means of communication with each other and with those composing the machinery of government in all portions of the empire. Naturally they have used or are supposed to use the language of the court. In earlier days it was Nankinese mandarin. At present it is Pekinese mandarin.

But it is not to be thought that because this language is common to a greater or less extent to all northern provinces and is employed by officials elsewhere it is practicable to use it in business. There are comparatively few merchants or even the so-called mandarin provinces who can readily understand the court language and it is not at all uncommon for a person speaking good mandarin to be told by a man of substance in these provinces that the latter does not understand the speaker's [illegible] foreign [illegible] [illegible] the languages of the several [illegible] and districts [illegible] [illegible] generally the [illegible] fully as well differentiated.

There [illegible] and well-defined [illegible] languages recognized by the Chinese scholars in [illegible] Chekiang alone. [illegible] Kiangsi and [illegible] lying along a line not more than 100 miles from extreme [illegible]. Each one of these [illegible] has its own dialect [illegible] but a person who has studied [illegible] [illegible] of understanding being unable to [illegible] understood in the others to any greater extent than a Spaniard can communicate in Portuguese. A Chinaman from any one of them cannot make himself readily understood in Shanghai 100 miles away the center of Chinese activity for all that portion of China. None of them could understand the language 100 miles to the south.

Different Language Every 25 Miles.

Between Foochow and Amoy, possibly 8 miles [illegible] an air line there is so general linguistic confusion among the people for any 25 miles of the distance. Even in the northern provinces where the language is more uniform and approaches [illegible] there are similar difficulties.

As a matter of fact the most successful foreign business men in China at the present time do not know the Chinese language. The greatest need if American trade is improved or rather more general representation of special interests but this representation should be more [illegible] in its actual relations with the Chinese people than might at first appear to be advantageous. At the present time American concerns [illegible] directly in the Chinese field depend for their business upon [illegible] held by business houses in the several open ports of the country. There are a few foreign firms [illegible] what may be called travel[illegible] [illegible] the present time the [illegible] great extent of [illegible] men in the field [illegible] [illegible] other concerns from putting out more direct representatives.

Foreigners Must Employ Chinese

I believe that American trade [illegible] [illegible] foreigners [illegible] should [illegible] in the United States [illegible] Chinese [illegible] employing [illegible] Chinese language [illegible] [illegible] should not be [illegible] in the future. It is evident [illegible] foreign agents [illegible] able portion of the Chinese [illegible] [illegible] business [illegible] with the provinces than [illegible] which he is employed [illegible] with is generally [illegible] [illegible] foreigner has learned to speak [illegible] [illegible] Chinese language does not [illegible] of the Chinese people [illegible] [illegible] with the admission [illegible] life of the Chinese [illegible]

Chinese Eager to Learn English

[illegible]

[illegible] less of the Chinese people [illegible] seems strange to see two Chinese unable to communicate with each other in any language but the English, but this is a common experience in ports along the coast where merchants from several provinces or countries are employed in foreign firms. As is the most logical way out of the present situation in China. The English language is the coming commercial language of China.

Chinese Students for America

The newcomer in Japan is astonished to see even the jinrikisha coolies and porters in hotels studying English primers. But it is the logical course for all eastern education. The Chinese writer in the American consulate at Hangchow while I was stationed there received about $15 Mexican or about $7.50 gold per month. Had he possessed a working knowledge of the English language written and spoken he would have been worth five times that amount. He knew it and it was only the logic of circumstances that his younger brother was a student of the English language. I had a house boy who received $14 Mexican or about $6 gold per month, and another who received $8 Mexican or about $3 [illegible] per month. The former spoke pidgin English the latter nothing but Chinese. The higher priced men are in greater demand than other employees.

There is no people in the world who appreciate the force of such conditions any more than the Chinese. All over the nation schools are being established whose first requirement is the teaching of the English language. The anxiety of young Chinese men to study abroad, to acquire a foreign education generally and to learn foreign business methods in particular renders this plan not only practicable but almost mandatory upon a nation which expects to do business in China. It would work to the advantage of the business interests of the United States in every way and would interfere with no American interests. It would establish the means of conducting foreign business in China and at the same time would predispose young Chinese business men in favor of American goods, American methods and American interests. At all events a study of the Chinese language for commercial purposes by Americans is in my opinion unwise, unnecessary and unprofitable but American business interests concerned in eastern trade can well profit to see that young Chinese men are given business education in the United States.

DISCOURAGED AT PROSPERITY

A builder of Windsor [illegible] I. [illegible] hanged himself the other day because he was too prosperous. He had more work than he could do. It seems absurd enough yet there are many people who commit suicide for precisely the same reason though not by hanging. Possibly [illegible] easier and pleasanter to [illegible] a nervous breakdown.

WHAT IS TRUTH AT $25,000 A YEAR

[illegible] Chicago has [illegible] truth [illegible] professor has [illegible] Pilate [illegible]

[illegible] required [illegible] that the [illegible] Chris[illegible] Kings[illegible] Washing[illegible] [illegible] has been [illegible] the land [illegible] very present help in time [illegible] [illegible] without which the [illegible] would totter. If each [illegible] just what we think to our neighbors instead of the polite meaningless compliments which are customary life would not be worth living. With nothing but what is actually true recorded we should be deprived of most of our standard histories. With [illegible] false or doubtful statements expunged the ordinary five-volume history would be reduced to a very small compass. And it is more than likely that the proportion of truth and accuracy in the daily newspaper record of events is greater than that of Hume, Macaulay or Gibbon in their standard histories.

[illegible] falsehood that is uttered [illegible] uttered [illegible] charity and kindness. It may be to cover some fault in a fellow-man. When Uncle Toby uttered a certain famous saying the recording angel wrote it down but dropped a tear upon the word and blotted it out forever. It may be that many a lie when it is recorded is blotted out in the same way.

This is not [illegible] intended as an apology for lying. Lying is undoubtedly wrong. But some sayings [illegible] that pass as lies are really not so. The words uttered may be literally true and the man who utters them may be lying. The words uttered may be untrue and the man who utters them may have no intention to deceive anyone. It is to be feared that Professor Gluck will lose his money.

DIDN'T OBJECT TO TRAVELING.

Sparrows [illegible] nest anywhere, but the following two cases are perhaps as remarkable as any that can be found. A pair of sparrows actually built a nest in the rack of a train which performed a trip of 200 or 300 miles [illegible] while another pair attached their home to a busy ferryboat. In both instances [illegible] brood was successfully reared.

TEST OF REAL COURAGE.

Congressman John Sharp Williams was recently asked to oppose the free seed distribution. In declining Mr. Williams said: "Walsworth I can imagine a man with the courage of the early Christian martyrs. I can imagine a man with the courage to walk steadily to the cannon's mouth and I can imagine a man with the courage to look into the barrel of a pistol in a duel, but in my wildest imaginings I cannot imagine a man with courage enough to refuse to vote for the seed distribution if he comes from a rural district."

CROSSED WIRES START ROMANCE

ETHEL M. STEWART, "HELLO GIRL," AND HAROLD PERRY, TELEGRAPHER, ARE MARRIED

The crossing of telephone and telegraph wires is said to have been the beginning of a pretty romance which ended last evening at the parsonage of the First Baptist church where the Rev. J. H. Franklin united in marriage Harold F. Perry, operator at the Postal Telegraph office, and Miss Ethel M. Stewart, operator at the local telephone station. Miss Stewart came to this city six months ago from Spokane, Wash., and is a niece of W. L. Hatfield, a local automobilist.

The bride was working in the Cripple Creek office of the Colorado Telephone company two months ago and Perry was dispatcher in the Short Line's Cripple Creek station. One day the telephone and telegraph wires became crossed. Miss Stewart tried to call a number but could only hear the tick, tick, of the telegraph instrument. After listening for some time she called up the Short Line office and asked who was working at the instrument. She found out and the man is her husband today.

Miss Stewart came to Colorado Springs a few weeks ago to become an operator in the local telephone office. Mr. Perry followed her, and found employment with the Postal Telegraph company. It is said that the wires became crossed again—anyway they were married last night.

The bride is 20 years old and the groom is 22. They will reside at 715 East High street.

FROM GIRLHOOD TO WOMANHOOD

Mothers Should Watch the Development of Their Daughters
Interesting Experiences of Misses Borman and Mills.

Every mother possesses information which is of vital interest to her young daughter.

Too often this is never imparted or is withheld until serious harm has resulted to the growing girl through her ignorance of nature's mysterious and wonderful laws and penalties.

Girls' over sensitiveness and modesty often puzzle their mothers and baffle physicians, as they so often withhold their confidence from their mothers and conceal the symptoms which ought to be told to their physician at this critical period.

When a girl's thoughts become sluggish, with headache, dizziness or a disposition to sleep, pain in back or lower limbs, eyes dim, desire for solitude; when she is a mystery to herself and friends, her mother should come to her aid, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will at this time prepare the system for the coming change, and start this trying period in a young girl's life without pain or irregularities.

Hundreds of letters from young girls and from mothers, expressing their gratitude for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished for them, have been received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., at Lynn, Mass.

Miss Mills has written the two following letters to Mrs. Pinkham, which will be read with interest:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— (First Letter.)

"I am but fifteen years of age, and [illegible] have dizzy spells, [illegible] ache, and as I have heard that you can give helpful advice to girls in my condition, I am writing you."—Myrtle Mills, Oquawka, Ill.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— (Second Letter.)

"It is with the feeling of utmost gratitude that I write to you to tell you what your valuable medicine has done for me. When I wrote you in regard to my condition I had consulted several doctors, but they failed to understand my case and I did not receive any benefit from their treatment. I followed your advice, and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am now healthy and well, and all the distressing symptoms which I had at that time have disappeared."—Myrtle Mills, Oquawka, Ill.

Miss Matilda Borman writes Mrs. Pinkham as follows:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my periods were irregular and painful, and I always had such dreadful headaches.

"But since taking the Compound my headaches have entirely left me, my periods are regular, and I am getting strong and well. I am telling all my girl friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Matilda Borman, Farmington, Iowa.

If you know of any young girl who is sick and needs motherly advice, ask her to address Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and tell her every detail of her symptoms, and to keep nothing back. She will receive advice absolutely free, from a source that has no rival in the experience of woman's ills, and it will, if followed, put her on the right road to a strong, healthy and happy womanhood.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound holds the record for the greatest number of cures of female ills of any medicine that the world has ever known. Why don't you try it?

BIG HIGH SCHOOL CLASS GRADUATES

President Slocum of Colorado College Delivers Address and Wm. P. Kinney, President of Board of Education Presents Diplomas.

"The time is not far off when the school board will be compelled to ask the taxpayers of Colorado Springs for another High school building and I am sure that when that time comes the request will be granted."—William P. Kinney, president of the Colorado Springs board of education.

Diplomas were received last night by the largest class in the history of the Colorado Springs High school at commencement exercises held at Temple theater. The large hall was completely filled by relatives and friends of the members of the class, among those present being the juniors, who attended in a body.

Great enthusiasm was shown when the announcement of the winners of the Perkins prizes was made by J. R. Richards, principal. Two had been offered, one to the boys and one to the girls, and the winners were those whose averages were the highest for the year. First prize for boys was won by Frank George Fritch and second by Marion Clarence Dietrich.

First prize for girls was awarded to Elsie Mae Elrick, and second to Adelaide Ruth Bateman.

The Perkins prizes are scholarships to Colorado college and Chicago university.

The exercises opened with prayer by Rev. James H. Franklin. Next came a musical number, "The Gallant Troubadour," by the High school glee club. This was followed by the address of the evening, delivered by Dr. William F. Slocum, president of Colorado college.

WILLIAM P. KINNEY,

President of the Colorado Springs School Board, Who Presented Diplomas to the Members of the High School Graduating Class Last Night.

PRESIDENT WM. F. SLOCUM,

Of Colorado College, Who Delivered the Commencement Address to the Graduating Class of the Colorado Springs High School Last Night.

GEORGE O. FRITCH,

Winner of the Perkins Scholarship for Boys.

SLOCUM'S ADDRESS.

Dr. Slocum had for his subject "The Leadership of Trained Minds." He said in part:

"One of the most significant and far-sighted movements of modern days was when Germany after the Franco-Prussian war, used a large amount of the indemnity which she received from France for the improvement of her universities and the advancement of her technical schools. The result of this far-sighted policy has been to place that great empire in the very front rank of the nations of the world. Her manufactures, her commerce today, stand side by side with those of England and America. In other words, it was the rise and education of trained minds that has put the German nation in the fore rank of modern civilization.

The nineteenth century in the United States was one in which the self-made man held a place of preeminence. The first three-quarters of that century was a period in which the pioneer held the place of leadership. The opening of the great west, the development of agriculture, the founding of great [illegible] and farms required men of physical energy and force of character. The government of the country, while it often dealt with far-reaching questions, was, on the whole, simply and to a large extent local.

Perhaps the highest type of government which existed in the first half of the nineteenth century was that of the New England town meeting, which so many furnished the orators. The problems were those of the local administration of justice, building of roads and education as typified by the "little red school house." The courses of instruction in the few colleges were those which arose from a desire to produce a trained ministry.

The Self-Made Man.

Commerce and business of all kinds were not complicated. Tobacco from Virginia and general merchandise from New England were shipped in small sailing vessels across the Atlantic at the opening of the century. Lumbering stages carried the mails, and in these early days it was long weeks before letters from the far west could reach the old home in New England. The migrations from the Atlantic seaboard into the west were made in wagons, and many of these early pioneers walked or rode in the saddle along the tough roads, which were largely trails. These early men transported their simple furniture, drove their few cattle as they sought to establish the newer civilization of what was then the west. Their libraries were largely composed of the Bible and the Pilgrim's Progress. In fact the whole industrial, agricultural and commercial movements of those eighty years in the last century required most of all men and women of physical prowess and great industry. It was the age of the self-made man. Both the merchant and the statesman were self-reliant people. They forced their way to the front, and rendered a service which has placed the whole country under lasting obligation.

The Twentieth Century.

The coming in, however, of the twentieth century produced great changes in the life of the nation. The railroad, telegraph and the telephone are only incidents in this enlarged movement. It has been discovered that the ideas and the skill and even the self reliance of fifty or seventy-five years ago are not adequate for the solution of the larger problems that have been thrust upon the American people. So far reaching are the problems of the new century that only the trained mind are [illegible]. It is no longer possible for [illegible] with [illegible] to control the [illegible]. Much as we honor the [illegible] the work which he has done, we can no longer hold the standard [illegible] as heretofore to the great [illegible] and country.

The colleges of the first part of the century possessed men of great [illegible] learning, that learning was [illegible] with what is absolutely essential for a [illegible] the modern college and technical school. In fact our whole system of education has been reconstructed to meet the large demands of our modern life. The college and university of even fifty years ago would be utterly inadequate for the demands of the twentieth century. The teacher of the modern High school is better trained and more keenly alive than was the college professor of even fifty or sixty years ago.

Trained Men in Demand.

The colleges of the east were founded largely for the training of the clergy, but even the clergyman of modern times would not be fitted for his important work if the schools of America could give him only what he received in these early years.

Nowhere is the demand for trained men more keenly felt than in the great commercial and industrial movement of modern times. President Hadley of Yale university receives each year, just before his commencement, a large number of letters from leading business men in New York and elsewhere asking for the keenest, brightest and best trained men to take important positions in merchantile, manufacturing and railroad corporations.

The graduates of our colleges are more and more stepping into positions that require the most thorough training and largest intellectual grasp. Mr. W. F. Merril, first vice president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, said in a recent article, "Men of character and college education make the best help. It does not take them so long a time to reach a point where they can be safely promoted. College education gives the young man habits of application which are invaluable. A well-trained mind acts more quickly and reaches results more speedily and more accurately than one without such training."

A member of a great corporation which built steel mills has recently said, "A man of college education is worth more to us than a man of technical training. He is worth less for a year or two, but he has a power for learning all branches of our business which are specially needed."

One of the captains of industry whose opinion would be sought by the great leaders of commerce has said: "A college graduate, if he forms no bad habits in college, will soon overtake those who started in business four years ago, and his mental training gives him a marked advantage over those who have not received it."

To quote still further, Mr. J. H. Chisholm, president of the International Paper company, has said: "I regard a man equipped with a college education as the best equipped material to build upon, if he is entering a manufacturing, merchantile or banking business."

A Marvelous Transition.

I might add a large number of such quotations from great minds in the business world today. I quote them here, not so much for the purpose of arguing for any special college training, as to show the necessity of training minds in the business and mercantile world. A marvelous transition has taken place in the minds of many of our business men. It is men with powers of application, with capacity for reasoning clearly and logically in regard to a business proposition that are more and more required in those great movements which need the investment of great sums of money.

Nothing is more significant than the remarkable statistics given out by our United States government in regard to these matters. It is still true that only one man in a hundred receives a degree from a school of high learning, yet from this one in a hundred there has come today one-third of the members of congress, one-half of our presidents, two-thirds of the justices of the supreme court, and, in fact, the vast majority of the great leaders in the technical, legal, scientific and professional life of the nation. These statistics show that the college men have actually thirty times as large an opportunity to succeed in public life as the man who has never graduated from any institution of higher training. The college and technical school of these days exist not merely as institutions to excite philanthropic and generous men and women, but because they are absolutely essential to the great demands of a growing nation.

Conditions Ever Changing.

America is not what she was 100 hundred years ago, and while we turn back with great admiration and reverence to those who contributed so much to its [illegible] of [illegible] we must all recognize that conditions have changed, and the problem of the young men and women of today is to meet with energy, industry and faithfulness and a large sense of justice what is demanded in the new century.

The narrowly educated man of only a few years ago is inadequate for the new era. He will soon find himself lagging in the rear, and supplanted in the competition and demands of modern times. The self-made man has rendered a service of inestimable value, but his day in our American life to a large extent is passing and a new generation of broadly educated, accurately-trained minds must come to the front. There will always be a place for men of energy and force of character. There will always be an important service to be rendered by the man who toils with brawn, but the great leadership of the nation must rest with those whose brains are trained and whose minds are able to grasp the larger movement and the exacting requirements of our modern times.

America turns to you, young people as you who graduate out of this High school and asks that you seek the highest and best training in order that you may be fitted to meet the requirements of our great nation. It is still true that the hope of America is in the moral fiber of the American people, but their morality must be sustained by intelligence and by trained leadership.

Music by the girls' glee club followed Dr. Slocum's talk. Among the musical numbers was a vocal solo by Dr. C. G. Woolsey. The exercises closed with a song by the High school glee club.

Kinney Presents Diplomas.

William P. Kinney, president of the school board, presented the diplomas to the class, the personnel of which follows:

Virginia Mayberrie Parker, Thomas Marshall Patrick, Herbert William Perty, Gertrude Rogers Peirson, Jennie Adelia Pickney, Leland Wells Pollock, Eugene Dimon Preston, Oliver Caldwell Ralston, Ward Randolph, Harry Hughes Richmond, Thyrza Mercedes Roby, Herbert Nelson Roe, Frank Fitch Ross, Grace Violet Sanders, Ralph Edgar Seibird, Louis Shapiro, Glenn William Shaw, Lillie Elvira Soder, Vera May Spangler, John Stovell, Leona Mildred Thacher, Genevive Turner, Prudence Goldie Vanatta, Anita Williams, Mary Helen Woodring, Harry Whiting Woodward, Libbie Marie Zehner, Jessie Mary Ackermann, Lois Abigail Akin, Adelaide Ruth Bateman, Harold Law Boynton, Ina Annette Bowen, Milan Edward Bugts, James Hunter Carroll, Alice Helena Clifford, Louise Nadine Coffey, Marion Clarence Dietrich, Albert Russell Ellingwood, Elsie Mae Elrick, Helen Floyd Estill, Nilsson McQueen Flickbiner, Frank George Fritch, Albert Bruce Gustin, Edna Margaret Hadley, Verne Hesser, Frank Bonar Howe, Lotta Francis Hull, Janet Harper Kampf, Joseph Elbert McCoombs, Lenita Evelyn Molar, Marguerite Moore, Joe La Porte Morrison, Imogene Idaho Moyer, Ruth Rogers, Walter Harry Elrick, Edith Marjory MacKenzie.

Referring to the great advancement in our public school system, Mr. Kinney said that he doubted if every new text book was really better than the preceding one.

"It is the purpose of the modern public school," he said, "to set before the child the highest ideals. Too often the newspapers attempt to substitute for the lofty ideals the monstrous buffoonery of the Hooligans and Katzenjammer kids."

Mr. Kinney also referred to the growth of the Colorado Springs public schools, and stated that the enrollment of the High school for the coming year would, from present indications, be about 850.

"The time is not far off," he declared, "when the school board will be compelled to ask the taxpayers for another High School building, and I am sure that when that time comes the request will be granted."

KIDNEY DISEASES CAUSE ONE-THIRD OF THE TOTAL DEATHS.

When the Kidneys fail to perform their functions properly by not straining out the poisonous waste matter from the blood as it passes through them, the poisons are carried by the circulation to every part of the body, deranging the different organs. This causes heart trouble, stomach trouble, sluggish liver and a host of other ills, all due to deranged Kidneys.

CURED OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

Mr. Robert G. Burke, Elnora, Saratoga Co., N. Y., writes: I am glad to have an opportunity of telling what magnificent results I have had from using FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE after having tried other advertised medicines and several physicians. Before I began it I had to get up from 15 to 20 times each night to relieve my bladder. I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired that I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. In fact, I was so badly used up that I had given up hope of living when I was urged by a friend to try FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE. One [illegible] cent bottle worked wonders, and before I had taken the third bottle the superfluous flesh had gone, as well as all other symptoms of Kidney trouble. My friends were surprised that I was cured, as they all thought I was going to die. Every few days some one comes from miles away to learn the name of the wonderful medicine that cured me of Bright's Disease, and not one that [illegible] has been disappointed.

and you will learn what is the "power behind the dough." In the high-class powders it is cream of tartar, extracted from clean, delicious grapes, and that is healthful. In the low-grade powders it is "phosphate alum," or "sodium aluminum sulphate," which is also alum, a mineral acid, and that makes the food unhealthful.

Of what use are twenty-five ounces for twenty-five cents, if eight of these ounces are alum?

Food baked with alum baking powders is found to contain a portion of the alum unchanged!

The continued use of alum made food impairs digestion, causing dyspepsia. When buying baking powder, examine the label and take only a brand whose label shows it to be free from alum.

SEND APPROPRIATION BILL TO CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, June 7.—An attack and a spirited defense of the president were the features of a busy day in the house of representatives. Mr. Brundage of Arkansas assailing the items for the [illegible] of the White house and grounds as grossly extravagant and in contrast to past simplicity. Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio [illegible] the appropriation.

The naval appropriation bill was sent to conference, the conferees being Mr. Foss of Illinois, Mr. Loudenslager of New Jersey and Mr. Meyer of Louisiana.

A bill was passed extending the act of March [illegible] relating to officers of the navy and marine corps being advanced [illegible] under sections 1506 and 1650 for conduct in battle.

After completing 25 pages of the sundry civil bill the house adjourned.

say "no" to that question. Occasionally we have a case of goods sent back, but we always try to get hold of the goods that are the subject of complaint."

"What is the result on your foreign trade of the present agitation?" asked Mr. Wadsworth.

"The result is very disastrous," replied the witness.

"Our foreign demand for fresh meats and manufactured product has been practically cut in two. Our foreign competitors are all making the most of this and are getting the benefit of agitation and we are standing the loss."

"Naturally," suggested Mr. Wadsworth, "if your foreign demand falls off your purchases of livestock will be less."

"I do not see where we are to find markets if our foreign trade is cut off," answered Mr. Wilson.

"Well," continued Mr. Wadsworth, "you will not have to buy the stock."

"No, but cattle raisers are accustomed to ship their stock to Chicago and get their money for them. If this should stop, I don't see how we are to avoid a terrible calamity in the west," responded Mr. Wilson.

Mr. Neill was then put on the stand. He said he had worked in a Chicago packing house for six months in a university settlement.

"You are a specialist along economic lines?"

"Modesty forbids me to say," replied Mr. Neill. He said he was or had been for a year and a half commissioner of labor.

Mr. Neill then related a parting interview with Mr. Dyson, consulting veterinarian in Chicago representing the packers. Mr. Dyson, he said, suggested that Neill and Reynolds go to Washington, make no report, but inform the packers of the conditions found and suggestions for remedies, then to wait thirty days and come back and see if conditions had not been bettered. This he indicated was to prevent injury to the trade. Mr. Neill said he replied that he was not authorized to make any trade or deal, that he did not know what the president's plans were, but believed it was to secure adequate legislation. Mr. Neill followed this statement with a letter he had received from Mr. Dyson in which was suggested a sanitary committee and that it be given thirty days to accomplish improvement, pending which no reports should be made.

The slipping of a hog into a privy was made the subject of a colloquy between the witness and Representative Brooks of Colorado. Mr. Neill said he saw the hog fall and identified a picture of the privy. The hog was put upon the rack and he believed the hog was never cleaned.

Chairman Wadsworth persisted that the witness might [illegible]

Going back to the statement regarding tuberculosis spittle on the floor Mr. Wadsworth insisted that Mr. Neill did not know as a fact that the workmen had tuberculosis.

"The fact was established to my mind," said Mr. Neill. "I can only say that I believe it."

"Oh, there is a difference between believing and mere knowledge," said Mr. Lorimer.

"Well, I know it," replied Mr. Neill.

"Did you examine them?"

"I observed them."

"You say other diseased persons also. What other diseases?"

"I am not willing to state."

"Well, doctor," said Mr. Lorimer, "you have made these statements to the world in a report which the president has sent to us and which has done incalculable injury to this industry, and we want to know the facts."

"I have made this report and am willing to stand for it," replied Mr. Neill. "There were smells of medicine on these men that you get in dispensaries for certain diseases." When other questions to draw out details were asked, Mr. Neill here remarked:

"If you will pardon me, I think you, Mr. Chairman, and Mr. Lorimer, are quibbling."

"Oh, no, we are not quibbling," came from both gentlemen.

Representative Bowie of Alabama protested that the witness was being put in the attitude of a defendant under cross-examination.

"The witness can take care of himself, can't he?" asked the chairman.

"Well," retorted Mr. Bowie, "I think I have the right to make this statement."

Mr. Lorimer asserted that he had not been discourteous.

"The witness," he said, "is the author of a report and I shall, until the committee passes a rule that the witness ought not be questioned, endeavor to ascertain the facts."

Mr. Neill here asked permission to make a statement. He said that it was six weeks ago that he was in Chicago. He saw hundreds of things that did not go into his report as to the rubbish that went into the meat. He specified "rubbish" as "nail," "a piece of rope," etc.

"I saw rubbish go into the meat and said so."

As to tuberculosis, he had made observations and had also interviewed physicians who had told him the work tended to produce that disease. As to the tendency of the work in the packing houses to lower the morals Mr. Neill said he believed that is the case.

"An instance," he said, "a young girl 16 or 17 years old had to walk across a long room filled with men to go into a

EXPLANATION WILL BE DEMANDED BY PEOPLE

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Representative Prince of Illinois, in the house today, during consideration of the sundry bill spoke of the anti-pass amendment to the rate bill and insisted that the country would hold the house primarily responsible for depriving 29,191 railway employes as well as members of their families of free transportation. Likewise persons actually and necessarily in charge of live stock, who are deprived of free transportation when going to point of shipment or returning from point of delivery.

"The people this fall," he said, "will want to know the reason why we properly included twelve express companies under the law and excluded the only monopoly in the United States the Pullman company."

He said the only thing to do when the conference report on the rate bill comes before the house will be to vote it down and then the house can vote into the bill the things most essential to it.

BOYER GETS BUMPED FOR TELLING TRUTH

PHILADELPHIA, June 7.—Joseph Boyer, the Pennsylvania railroad employe who yesterday testified before the interstate commerce commission to having received large sums of money and other gratuities from producers of coal on the Pennsylvania railroad lines, was today dismissed from the service of the company. When this matter was brought to the attention of President Cassatt, he directed the immediate discharge of Boyer.

Boyer, in his testimony yesterday, said that he had accepted more than $46,000 from coal mining companies during a period of three years. He was chief clerk in the office of A. W. Gibbs, superintendent of motive power of the Pennsylvania railroad company, and purchased the fuel coal used in the locomotives of the company. The donors, he said, were five different companies which furnish coal to the railroad. Boyer's testimony was of a sensational character. He testified that he had been allowed from three to five cents on each ton sold to the railroad company in such a matter of fact manner that the commissioners were almost stupefied by the startling admissions.

MILLER OPENS A STREAK OF 5-OUNCE ORE IN ORO CLAIM

Special to The Gazette

CRIPPLE CREEK, June 7.—J. K. Miller of Colorado Springs, who is operating a lease on the north end of the Oro claim belonging to the Colorado Springs Gold Mining company, on the north slope of Ironclad hill, has opened 18 inches of ore about 30 feet from the shaft at a depth of 100 feet. It gives assay returns of from $60 to [illegible] to the ton. The ore is found between well-defined walls and the prospects are considered flattering for the opening of another producer on Ironclad hill. Mr. Miller has [illegible] tons of ore in the bins and expects to get out his first shipment within a few days. The ore is expected to average close to five ounces in gold to the ton.

SHARPE AFTER MABEL M.

Ragland and Associates May Sell Lease Recently Secured.

Special to The Gazette

CRIPPLE CREEK, June 7.—John Sharpe has secured a [illegible] days' option from Ragland, Murray and Husted on a lease which they recently secured on the northeast corner block of the Mabel M. This block of ground adjoins the Arequa Savage, and it is reported that $5,000 in ore is in sight from the Arequa Savage side. It is understood that the option calls for $6,000.

MINERAL HILL STRIKE

Lessee Scott Reported to Have Streak of Rich Ore.

Special to The Gazette

CRIPPLE CREEK, June 7.—Lessee Scott, operating on a claim in the draw about 1,000 feet north of the Sisters' hospital, on Mineral hill, is reported to have made a good strike during the last few days. According to the report, Mr. Scott has between two and three feet of ore at an approximate depth of 50 feet which will average between two and three ounces.

ORPHA MAY HAS 800-OUNCE ORE

SNYDER AND ASSOCIATES REPORTED TO HAVE MARVELOUS ORE BODY IN BULL HILL MINE.

CRIPPLE CREEK, June 7.—A big strike is reported in the Orpha May of the Stratton estate on Bull hill.

Snyder and associates, lessees, have come into a streak of ore on the first level which gives assay returns as high as 800 ounces in gold to the ton. A [illegible] shipment of twenty-five tons netted the lessees an average of twenty-five ounces to the ton. The last car shipped by Snyder gave [illegible] ounces from the streak and [illegible] ounces all the way across the [illegible] ore body. The lessees are organizing [illegible] that will be known as the East Development company. They plan to lease claims adjoining the Orpha May.

SECURE LEASE ON MONTROSE CLAIM

JESSE H. WATERS ASSOCIATED WITH PRICE AND FRY IN OPERATION OF PROMISING PROPERTY.

Special to The Gazette

CRIPPLE CREEK, June 7.—The middle block of the Montrose claim, on the north slope of Ironclad hill, has been leased to J. W. Price of Cripple Creek, who will start work immediately. Associated with Mr. Price are Jesse H. Waters, manager of the Cripple Creek railroads, and George Fry of the Cripple Creek sampler. All these men have been very successful in Cripple Creek leasing, and are prepared to push development work steadily.

This block of the Montrose was the one formerly leased to Van Vleet and associates, who shipped eight cars of ore from one of the veins opened in that property. The ore shipped ran from $25 to $30 per ton as it was taken from the vein. Four [illegible] of the vein gives values of over $100 per ton, but the lessees mixed all the ore to keep the grade down. The vein which yielded the ore was a blind one, encountered at 280 feet depth. The former lessees had only about 25 feet of stoping ground on the vein, and when this block was removed gave up the lease. The new lessees will sink 100 feet at once to gain that additional amount of stoping ground on the vein.

Another vein of pay ore is opened on the south of this same block of the Montrose, and the present lessees will start and drift for it at once. Samples from this second vein show values of $20 per ton, with the grade constantly increasing with depth.

The Montrose is located on the north slope of Ironclad hill 200 feet from the W. P. H. mine, and on the course of the W. P. H. veins. As a rule, in this vicinity it requires a depth of from 250 to 300 feet to obtain ore. Since the present lessees have this depth already to start on, they expect to make big returns from this block as soon as the necessary development can be done.

HAYDEN LEASES HOME FRACTION

CONTRACT FOR SINKING SHAFT IS LET—WILL TRY TO FIND VEINS FROM THE W. P. H.

Special to The Gazette

CRIPPLE CREEK, June 7.—Lewis A. Hayden, who made $250,000 from his lease on the Gregory claim of the Elkton company, has just taken a two-year lease on the Home fraction of the Cedar Hill Gold Mining company, of which H. Gardner of Colorado Springs is president.

The shaft on the Home, which adjoins the famous W. P. H. on Ironclad hill, has been sunk to a depth of 150 feet. Mr. Hayden has just let a contract to sink it to a depth of 250 feet, and may conclude to go still deeper, but the intention at this time is to do considerable lateral work at the 250-foot point.

Former lessees are of the opinion that with depth one of the rich W. P. H. veins will be encountered. During the course of sinking the shaft assays were obtainable at almost any stone, ranging from $8 to $12, but no definite vein was encountered.

FINE ORE OPENED IN BOULDER PARK

ASSAYS SHOW 10 OUNCES GOLD AND 1,000 TO 2,000 OUNCES SILVER PROGRESS ON TUNNEL.

TOLLAND, Colo., June 7.—This section of Gilpin county is showing great activity. Considerable work was done during the winter, and much new work has been commenced recently.

The Black Hills & Denver company will have its new mill running within 30 days. Double shifts are at work in the Park tunnel, which is a [illegible], and which will develop with good depth the entire group. Excellent ore has been opened in the shaft on Mineral hill, where a pump is being installed to handle the water. D. P. Van Fleet, formerly of Cripple Creek, is superintendent.

About one and one-half miles east of Boulder park Petersen & Johnson have [illegible] some [illegible] and it is reported they have found the old Buckeye vein. Assays show ten ounces gold, with 1,000 to 2,000 ounces silver. A tunnel has been started.

Hatfield & Co. [illegible] on the Midland group [illegible] are in 200 feet, and expect to find ore soon.

The [illegible] group in Black canon is being developed by a tunnel, [illegible] 300 feet.

GREAT ACTIVITY IN IDAHO SPRINGS

AMERICAN SISTERS TO DOUBLE PRODUCTION—JO REYNOLDS PROPERTY HAS A HEAVY OUTPUT.

IDAHO SPRINGS, Colo., June 7.—Great activity is shown among the mining propositions along Clear creek from Idaho Springs to the source of the creek, above Silver Plume, and especially noticeable is this activity at the little towns of Dumont, Lawson and Empire.

At Lawson the Commodore company is continuing to develop the lodes cut in its great tunnel into Red Elephant mountain. It is known that several ore shoots have been cut, but of what extent or value is not given out, as the company is a close corporation and does not take the public into its confidence.

The American Sisters Mining company has a dozen or more men opening the Sisters mine on Columbia mountain. This property has a record of a million and a half and gives promise of doubling that amount in the near future. A new air compressor has been ordered, and when installed at the mine more progress can be made in development. Ore showing silver glance and carrying a good percentage of lead and some copper and gold was recently opened in the mine. It was from this class of ore that the past record was made. It was found by recent work that the mine was not worked out, that the pay streak had changed its course and was lost by former operators.

A near neighbor of the American Sisters mine is the Jo Reynolds, which is outputting heavily. An increased force was recently added, and the mill on Clear creek started on ore from the old stopes. Two carloads of ore and several cars of concentrates were loaded on Colorado & Southern cars at the mill during the past week. This record will be broken in the future when a second shift is put on at the mill and everything gets to running smoothly.

RESUME WORK IN BIG OURAY MINE

TREASURY TUNNEL MINES CORPORATION WILL DRIVE ADIT AN ADDITIONAL 5,000 FEET.

OURAY, Colo., June 7.—Good news for Ouray ticked over the wires from General Manager W. J. [illegible] of Pittsburg [illegible] W. H. Fletcher & Bro. [illegible] [illegible] at work in the Treasury Tunnel Mines corporation developing [illegible] includes the extension of the drifts at the 100-foot [illegible] on the Handicap vein [illegible] has been intersected and which will be explored by the drifts. The present force will be increased until [illegible] men are employed in the Treasury workings and all August the mill will resume, giving work to 25 skilled men.

The Treasury's main working tunnel is 5,750 feet long, and will be driven an additional 5,000 feet, when it will have intersected the Cornelia, Vagabond, Schemer, Tom Boy, Argentine, Cimarron and Columbia veins. The Tom Boy is noted for its splendor of gold, will be cut 1,800 feet below the bottom of the deepest shaft, which is down 600 feet, and will give an enormous area of virgin ground, estimated to contain [illegible] tons of ore, the transportation of which is contemplated in the extension of the Treasury tunnel.

While the Treasury veins have hardly been scratched, their possibilities are illustrated in the statement relative to the Handicap vein, the expert report of which shows 518,000 tons of ore in sight, gross value, $4,231,000, profit per ton at present metal values, $7. The permanence of this and their other veins is guaranteed by the stability of the San Juan mining district.

SINKING SHAFT 100 FEET ON THE TEUTONIC CLAIM

Special to The Gazette

CRIPPLE CREEK, June 7.—The Teutonic Leasing company, working on the Teutonic claim, on Ironclad hill, is now sinking the shaft to a depth of 455 feet and expects to continue sinking until the contact is cut or a depth of 750 feet is attained. So far nothing has been encountered that warrants the saving of ore.

MACHINERY INSTALLED ON NORTH END OF GRANITE

Special to The Gazette

CRIPPLE CREEK, June 7.—Becker, Briggs and Travell, who recently secured a lease on the entire north end of the Granite, on Battle mountain, today installed a plant at [illegible] over a 75-foot shaft. The lessees will at once sink to a depth of 125 feet, where extensive development work will be [illegible].

All children between the ages of six and fifteen are invited to be the guests of The Gazette for a day of fun at the Zoo. Watch the paper for particulars.

FIRST SHIPMENT FROM THE MONITOR PAYS FOR LEASE

Special to The Gazette

CRIPPLE CREEK, June 7.—Lewis, McLeod and [illegible], operating on the Monitor claim of the Stratton estate on the east slope of Gold hill, have just installed a gas hoist over the 200-foot shaft and will start at once to crosscut at depth for the ore found at [illegible] and sink on to a depth of [illegible]. The first shipment [illegible] by lessees is said to have [illegible] which covered the amount paid by them for the lease.

FOUL AIR SUFFOCATES CENTRAL CITY MINERS

CENTRAL CITY, Colo., June 7.—[illegible] and John Brewer were suffocated in the Saratoga mine in Russell gulch at 2 o'clock this afternoon. They were at work timbering the shaft when suddenly overcome by foul air.

Several miners who were working near by hastened to their rescue, but were themselves almost overcome and had to be hoisted to the surface. The bodies have not yet been recovered. Both were well known in this section.

M'GARRY DENIES SALE OF GOLDEN CYCLE PROPERTY

The report published in a Denver paper last night to the effect that the Venture company of London, has purchased a controlling interest in the Golden Cycle Mining company, is emphatically denied by H. H. McGarry, vice president and general manager of the Cycle company.

"There is absolutely not a word of truth in the report. No negotiations have been made for the sale of the mine," said Mr. McGarry last night.

JENNIE SAMPLE TO SUE OPHIR COMPANY

According to report the Jennie Sample Gold Mining company is preparing to sue the Ophir Mining company for ore alleged to have been illegally taken from the former's territory by Ophir lessees. W. S. Morris, president of the Jennie Sample, has asked permission to survey the workings of the Ophir mine, which request has been refused, and it is said that the Jennie Sample company is preparing to take the matter into the courts. The question involves one of apex rights.

THERE ARE FEW people who know how to take care of themselves—the majority do not. The liver is a most important organ in the body. Herbine will keep it in condition. V. C. Simpkins, Alba, Texas, writes: "I have used Herbine for Chills and Fever and find it the best medicine I ever used. I would not be without it. It is as good for children as it is for grown people, and I recommend it. It is fine for La Grippe." Sold by the Hefley-Arcularius Drug Co.

WHY NOT?

PROFESSIONALS RULING MARKET

THEIR OPERATIONS MAKE UP LARGEST PART OF WALL STREET DEALINGS. CLOSE HEAVY.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Operations by a professional organization were still clearly discernible in the stock market today and made up the largest proportion of the total dealings.

The character of the trading made itself manifest by the concentrated nature of the orders in individual stocks and by rotation of dealings of this kind from one quarter of the market to another. This accounted for the spotty appearance of the market and the intervals of idleness between spurts of activity in one stock or another. It thus happened that some of the most prominent stocks in the list were not brought into the movement at all and the market showed no comparative movement at any time, such as is evident when a general public interest is at work. The stocks which had come [illegible] to favor late in the day are the ones generally that ended near the top level, while the earlier favorites were relegated to a less conspicuous place or drifted backward by the process of realization of profits.

The result of the day's professional efforts to advance prices was regarded by its authors with contentment, so far as could be judged from their persistence in the attempt. And they expressed confidence in the success of the campaign in bringing ultimately a public demand to provide a medium for realizing profits. Commission houses continue to complain of the absence of any such public demand and of dearth of orders for execution in the market. The movements of individual stocks generally had some item of gossip to accompany them, but these lacked official confirmation and in some cases were clearly based on surmise.

St. Paul was still bought on belief in coming stock subscription rights, and the known approach of a new issue of New York Central stock, already authorized, made the same explanation available for the movement in that stock. Union Pacific was the subject of rumors of a distribution on Southern Pacific from which it would benefit by its large holdings. Illinois Central was affected by a belief in a dispute for control of the property. Reading and Amalgamated Copper moved under the influence of oft-repeated rumors and San Francisco sent another important consignment of cash to New York by telegraphic transfer; foreign exchange rates made further progress toward the gold export point, still some distance away, however. The price of silver suffered a further violent reaction from its recent extreme rise, thus demonstrating that the rise was due to an overbought condition of the market. The realizing which was more or less in evidence all day became more pronounced at the close of the day and the closing was heavy.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $3,400,000. U. S. old 4s advanced ¼ and the new 4s ½ per cent on call.

BULLS BOOSTED WHEAT MARKET

WET WEATHER IN NORTHWEST CAUSED STRENGTH AND ACTIVITY—PACKERS KEEPING PROVISIONS UP.

CHICAGO, June 7.—Sentiment in the wheat pit was extremely bullish all day, and there was a strong demand from shorts and commission houses. The continuance of the wet weather in the northwest was chiefly responsible for the strength and activity of the market. Early in the day the market was influenced somewhat by the strength of corn and oats, but later damage reports made the market independently strong. Advices were received of black rust in the wheat fields of Texas and much damage by drought in Kansas and Nebraska. Higher prices for wheat at Liverpool also increased the bullish sentiment in the local market. At times offerings were very liberal, local longs taking advantage of the situation to secure profits, but the demand was so urgent that prices continued to advance steadily. July opened a shade to ⅛@⅜ higher at 81½ to 81⅝, advanced to 83½ and closed at 83⅜.

Trading in the corn pit was active and the market was strong. The chief cause of the firmness was that country acceptances were light, notwithstanding the high bids that were sent out last night by cash houses. Small local receipts and firm cables were minor influences. Longs were free sellers, but all offerings were readily taken by shorts and commission houses. The market closed strong and closed at the highest point of the day. July opened ⅛ to ¼@⅜ higher at 50⅛ to 50¼@⅜, advanced to 51⅛ and closed at 51⅛@¼.

Unusual activity prevailed in the oats pit and the market was exceptionally strong. On initial transactions the demand by shorts was so urgent that prices showed wide fluctuations, the range on the July option being 1 cent on the opening quotations. The chief cause for the urgent buying was the numerous reports of damage by drought to the new crop. An advance of 1 cent a bushel in the price of cash oats stimulated the demand for options. Liberal profit-taking caused some recession in prices, but the market closed strong. July opened ¾ to 1¼ higher at 37⅛ to 38⅝ and closed at 38⅝.

Provisions were strong on active buying by commission houses and packers. Receipts of live hogs were less than had been expected and shipments of hog products were very heavy. At the close July pork was up 27½@30 at $16.75 @$16.77½, lard was up 7½c at $8.82½, ribs were 2½@5 higher at $9.50.

DID NOT UNSEAT DELEGATES FOR SOCIALISTIC REASONS

DENVER, June 7.—The action of the convention of the Western Federation of Miners at the opening session here, whereby two members of the Butte delegation were unseated, caused the charge to be made that the socialistic tendencies of the federation was the real reason for turning down the two men. Resolutions prepared by a committee appointed for this purpose were adopted unanimously today, refuting the charge. The resolutions read in part as follows:

"We find it stated that this convention unseated certain delegates from Butte Miners' Union No. 1 on the grounds that they were opposed to socialism and seated in their stead delegates who favored that political creed, and it is also stated that the Western Federation of Miners has passed into the control of the Socialist party and is determined to make every miner in Butte a socialist, whether he wants to belong to the organization or not.

Both of these statements are false and are evidently inspired by the enemies of this organization. Such slanders would not be worthy of attention were it not for the fact that they are evidently but the forerunners of more of a similar nature, and we deem it advisable that this, the fourteenth annual convention of the Western Federation of Miners, should place itself officially on record as denying the charges in toto, and further that a true statement of the acts of the convention in the matter of the seating of the contesting delegates and the secretary of the organization as regards affiliation with any political party be given full publicity."

The resolutions then quote a portion of the record of the convention to show that Fitzgerald and Cunningham were not seated solely for the reason that Lowney and Duffy were regularly elected.
